

sphere trending™

we think outside the circle™

Friday, April 25, 2008

More great lighting designs...

...that make CFLs look really good! Propellor Design Studio in Canada has created Calvino - a grouping of seven pendant lights made of Teragren bamboo, finished in a walnut oil and using compact fluorescent bulbs (CFLs). The company is also working toward LEED certification for the lights, which makes the modern, pleasing design even more exciting! They also have products made from ecoresin (such as the Stratus shown here) and other eco-friendly designs that are made specifically for CFLs, so feel free to browse!

